

Product Designer Seller Experience

Description

Whatnot Whatnot is a livestream shopping platform and marketplace backed by Andreessen Horowitz, Y Combinator, and CapitalG. We're building the future of ecommerce, bringing together community, shopping and entertainment. We are committed to our values, and as a remote-first team, we operate out of hubs within the US, Canada, Ireland, UK, and Germany today. We're innovating in the fast-paced world of live auctions in categories including sports, fashion, video games, and streetwear. The platform couples rigorous seller vetting with a focus on community to create a welcoming space for buyers and sellers to share their passions with others. And, we're growing. Whatnot has been the fastest growing marketplace in the US over the past two years and we're hiring forward-thinking problem solvers across all functional areas.

Role We are seeking a highly skilled senior product designer with a specialized focus in enterprise design, e-commerce and tooling to join our Product Design team. You will play a pivotal role with your deep understanding of all facets of the design process in reshaping our seller experience through optimizing ambiguous workflows and developing powerful solutions that enable sellers to be successful across the platform. Develop and execute design strategies that align with the company's vision and objectives, with a strong emphasis on enterprise-level solutions and complex workflows. Design tools that empower sellers to accomplish tasks more efficiently, automating repetitive processes and enhancing productivity on the platform. Advocate for a seller-centric design approach, conducting user research, usability testing and other means to gather feedback and inform design decisions ensuring we build for seller efficiency. Create and iterate high-fidelity designs and prototypes that effectively communicate your design concepts, ensuring consistency across the platform. Work closely with cross-functional teams including Product Management and Engineering to analyze, optimize and streamline complex seller workflows, ensuring alignment of business goals and user needs. Provide mentorship and guidance to other designers, fostering a culture of design excellence, creativity and continuous growth within the design team. Advocate for best practices in design, usability and accessibility while also proactively identifying areas for improvement and drive initiatives to elevate the design process.

You Curious about who thrives at Whatnot? We've found that low ego, a growth mindset, and leaning into action and high impact goes a long way here. As our next Product Designer you should have 10+ years of experience in product design, plus: Proven experience as a product designer with a focus on enterprise-level solutions, e-commerce, tooling and complex workflows. Excellent portfolio showcasing your design skills, thought process and product impact. Expertise in design and prototyping tools (e.g. Figma, Adobe Creative Suite, etc.) Deep understanding of user experience design principles and testing methodologies. Ability to thrive in a fast-paced, dynamic environment while managing multiple concurrent projects. Excellent communication, collaboration and presentation skills allowing you to clearly and succinctly articulate your work and rationale to both technical and non-technical stakeholders.
