

Web3 Fullstack Engineer

Description

Role Overview: As a Fullstack engineer, you will work closely with the CEO and their designer to make the Flood developer experience delightful and intuitive; in practice, this means building SDKs, Solidity hooks and Dashboards, as well as writing good documentation. Example of doing a great job: Have our Typescript SDK work seamlessly with any frontend and backend framework, as well as with Viem and Ethersjs 15 days after hire.. Requirements: You are a Typescript wizard. Youâ??re closely familiar with build systems and know how to ship great libraries. You wrote Solidity before. You know how to interact with smart contracts, and the most common footguns to avoid. You know how to take a design from Figma and morph into a beautiful website. You done this so many times that you anticipate what's missing and work with designers to fill the gap. Cultural Fit: Youâ??re obsessed with user experience. You have a high bar in making experiences delightful and easy to use, and you genuinely care about the product you build. You have a constant sense of urgency. You know that to build something great, you need to move a mountain, and you start now! You jump walls. At Flood we say: â??If it's Turing computable, we can do it.â?? You know that thereâ??s always a way to get around a blocker. You want to improve, seek feedback, and you act on that feedback. Compensation & Package $80-120k base + equity (token allocation) Interview Process 1. Founder / CEO Interview 1st Stage – Intro/Technical call with the CEO 2. Take Home Test 2nd Stage – Tech Challenge 3. Final Interview 3rd Stage – Final Interview About: Flood is optimal trading for all users. Our innovative algorithm aggregates all on-chain liquidity to give you the best price possible. We parse through every DEX across Defi and scan through endless amounts of token pairs in order to find you the optimal trading route, every time. At Flood, youâ??d be working on the cutting edge of liquidity aggregation rivaling and bettering every other on-chain aggregator currently in use. Weâ??re backed by industry leaders like Bain Capital Crypto, Robot Ventures, and Archetype. Youâ??ll find weâ??re a team of visionary engineers, financial wizards, and crypto enthusiasts. We work hard but have fun while weâ??re doing it.
