

PHP Backend Engineer Smoobu

Description

Explore a new world of possibilities: Smoobu (www.smoobu.com), a subsidiary of HomeToGo Group, is a fast-growing startup in the vacation rental industry. Smoobu's all-in-one SaaS solution for private hosts currently manages over 70,000 properties across more than 120 countries. Smoobu's priority is to help its hosts efficiently manage and grow their business. Smoobu's team is the secret to our success. We are an ambitious and international team that are motivated to exceed our customers' expectations through expert advice and action. We are searching for new colleagues who are looking to take on the exciting challenge of transforming the vacation rental industry and taking it to the next level.

How you'll add value: Building and perfecting a variety of APIs to enable seamless integration with external partners as well as inter-service communication. Work hand-in-hand with business stakeholders to identify requirements, plan milestones, and polish features by measuring their performance. Choose adequate technical and business metrics to monitor features and manage the risk. Apply engineering best practices to the current team environment. Contribute to the resolution of technical design issues. You'll be successful in this role if you:

- Have solid relevant experience in Backend engineering (latest PHP versions)
- Are proficient with relational databases (MySQL)
- Practical experience with TDD, BDD, SOLID Principles and distributed architectural patterns
- Experience working with Docker and container orchestration technologies
- Have good communication skills and the ability to work efficiently in a distributed cross-functional team
- Are fluent in English

Nice to have: Familiarity with Frontend technologies (React)

Note: We operate a rolling recruitment approach – no deadlines, just opportunities. Should the volume of applications become too high, we might briefly remove this posting to provide our hiring team the space for thorough and unbiased review. The role will be made available again if we're still looking for the right fit.

Why Smoobu? Your journey with Smoobu is a two-way street – we've got you covered! We offer a diverse variety of benefits to enable your career development and make Smoobu a great place to work, including:

- The essentials: Competitive compensation package, visa sponsorship & relocation assistance*, full IT support & equipment, corporate benefits, modern offices, 27 paid vacation days a year (+ one additional day per year of employment until 32)
