

Technical Artist

Description

Technical Artist VGW is an interactive entertainment company, harnessing technology and creativity to deliver world-class, free-to-play games. We have an exciting opportunity for a Technical Artist to join our Golden Feather Studios. Note: We are open to a remote based candidate in QLD. This is a brand new role to assist and support in the overall development of our games. Bridging the gap between Design and Engineering. Identify gaps in process or propose improvements to our development pipeline. Key responsibilities will include: Build comprehensive video demos of game features and examples using Adobe After Effects. Create references (formal screenshots and early concepts) for slot game elements, using mostly existing assets, throughout the game lifecycle. Create implementation-ready game packages by exporting, optimising, and organising game assets. Create detailed documentation of game behaviours and files. Assist our engineers during the game development cycle with overall asset preparations and modifications as needed. Identify pipeline and process improvements. Seek different processes or tools to improve our game pipeline. Work with the Product Owner and team leads to formalise and agree on standards for locations, sizes, formats & naming conventions of assets. What you will bring to the role: A solid level of experience using Adobe After Effects. An enthusiasm to spend large chunks of time creating video references in After Effects showing our (sometimes complex) slot game behaviours. Slots experience highly preferred. Proficiency in Adobe Photoshop. Experience with optimising and handling digital assets. High degree of accuracy and detail with creating and maintaining documentation. Good communication skills, to be able to assist and collaborate with other creative roles and departments.
